

400 VETERANS RECEIVE U. S. BONUS BONDS

194 Received by Gettysburg Ex-Service Men in Early Mails Today.

DELIVERIES ARE MADE IN COUNTY

About 400 Adams county world war veterans received bonus bonds and checks amounting to an estimated sum in excess of $250,000 as the first installment of the bonus payments received in county post offices this morning.

In eleven county post offices, the number of veterans receiving bonds numbered 389. Gettysburg led the list with 194. Other post offices reported these figures: Littlestown, 55; Biglerville, 33; Fairfield, 25; New Oxford, 30; Aspers, 16; Arendtsville, six; Bendersville, three; York Springs, eight, and Gardners, 19. No bonds had been received through the early mails at the Cashtown office today.

At most of the post offices in the county the bonds were received in time to be dispatched on rural routes with the regular carriers.

At the Gettysburg office rural carriers left the post office on schedule with bonds addressed to veterans living on their routes. Delivery of bonds to Gettysburg veterans was begun at 8 o'clock by Luther McDonnell, a regular carrier. He was accompanied by Postmaster C. A. Williams during the morning. This afternoon a substitute carrier accompanied Mr. McDonnell.

In Registered Mail

All bonds were sent by registered mail and had to be delivered to the addressee in person.

Several veterans were on hand at the local post office early this morning and secured their envelopes containing varying numbers of the $50 bonds and checks covering smaller odd amounts. After receiving their bonds, a number of veterans appeared at the post office and asked to have their bonds certified and returned at once to Philadelphia in exchange for checks on the United States treasury. No certification was permitted until Tuesday in announcement from the post office last week.

How to Certify

At the local office special arrangements have been made for the veterans to present their bonds for certification Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 9 o'clock in the morning until 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings from 7 to 9 o'clock.

The veterans are to present their bonds at the internal revenue office on the second floor of the post office building where regular clerks will be detailed for special duty. Arthur Warman and David Tawney will serve as clerks for the certification work and will act under the

3 Parking Violations In Town Are Reported To Epley Over Week-End

Only three violations of the borough parking code were reported to Acting Burgess Clarence W. Epley over the week-end after one week of strict enforcement of the regulations by the council president.

This morning Mr. Epley said, "I wish to thank the people of this community for the excellent manner in which they cooperated with the borough council and the police department last week-end. Observance of the rules fixed by council at the request of the people of town will result in added safety to both motorists and pedestrians."

"One of the most dangerous types of violations is the practice of parking on the left side of streets. Motorists who park on the wrong side of the street are violating two state laws that prohibit driving and parking on the left side," Mr. Epley said.

The acting burgess told of complaints paid the parking system of Gettysburg within the last few days by a high official of the state highway patrol. Mr. Epley stated that the state officer said that all the borough regulations need for successful operation is strict enforcement.

"Many of the 47 persons who have received tags have come in to pay their fines and admitted that they were wrong and have expressed their willingness to help make our town safer. A few of those who have received a summons have been sharply critical but many of that group have been convinced that the enforcement of the law is the only course of action," Epley added.

A charge was laid before Justice of the Peace John C. Shealer Saturday afternoon against a second local motorist who failed to observe the notice to appear before Acting Burgess Epley and pay his fine. Officer Charles W. Culp, Jr., signed the information charging that Victor Sponker, East Middle street, parked in a restricted zone in front of the Majestic theater, Carlisle street.

"Harrisburg, Baltimore and other neighboring cities enforce their traffic laws and Gettysburg is going to do the same. The police are receiving 100 per cent cooperation," Mr. Epley said.

Traffic problems may be brought before the regular session of council this evening at 8 o'clock at the engine house.

PUSH PLANS FOR 3-DAY CARNIVAL

Fairfield Anticipates Large Crowd for Annual Homecoming This Year.

With the appointment of more than a score of committees by the general chairman R. C. Neely, definite plans for Fairfield's eleventh annual carnival and homecoming celebration were inaugurated and are being developed as rapidly as possible.

This event, sponsored by the Fairfield fire company, was inaugurated in 1926. It has grown in popularity each year not only with the people of Fairfield and vicinity but with residents of Adams and several neighboring counties. With the income from donations and carnival sales the company has been equipped with modern fire fighting apparatus. It is the objective of the company to make the 1936 celebration as enjoyable and as successful as were former carnivals, and to that end the members of the various committees are applying themselves to the tasks of their particular committee.

All the usual carnival features will be presented, parades, games, dancing, bingo, and band concerts. Fifteen tents aggregating about 7,000 square feet of canvas have been rented to house the different activities this year.

Two Adams county baseball league games will be played on July 4th. Fairfield will play Midway and Bonneauville.

Residents of Fairfield are asked by the fire company to decorate their homes for the three day carnival period thereby adding to the holiday appearance of the community.

Shields Claims He Wrote Republican Convention Song

William I. Shields, Adams county treasurer who attended the national republican convention for four days last week, lays claim to the distinction of being the originator of the song "Three Long Years" that last Wednesday became the convention song.

Mr. Shields says that he and a group of friends had been to the railway terminal last Wednesday morning before breakfast to witness the reception given former President Herbert Hoover when he arrived at the convention city. With the arrival of Hoover the crowd heard shouts that it had been "three long years" since the last Republican had left the helm at Washington.

Returning to breakfast at the Hollenden hotel with a friend from Pittsburgh and another from Iowa, Mr. Shields suggested that the chant about the three long years should be set to music.

"What tune?" asked his friends. The Adams countian replied, "The tune of the 'three blind mice'."

With that the three men set about composing the first stanza of the song. "I never heard of him," Mr. Shields said.

SHEELY GUEST AT EXERCISES, YOUNG ORPHANS

Chief Justice of State Supreme Court Speaks at Scotland School.

POINTS WAY TO FUTURE SUCCESS

Judge W. C. Sheely was a guest of honor at the annual commencement exercises at the Pennsylvania Soldiers Orphans' school at Scotland Saturday when the address to the graduates was delivered by Chief Justice John W. Kephart, of the state supreme court.

Judges Fred S. Reese and Watson R. Davidson, of the courts of Cumberland and Franklin counties, respectively, also were guests at the exercises. The visiting jurists occupied places on the reviewing stand during a parade and drills in the afternoon.

Himself a graduate of a similar institution, Chief Justice Kephart told the members of the graduating class that "a soldier's orphan given proper opportunities, is better equipped to follow the road of success than students of other institutions."

Tracing the history of these schools, the chief justice recalled that they were founded by the state in recognition of the sacrifice which had been made by Pennsylvania soldiers who fell in the Civil war. "The soldiers' orphans' schools," he said, "formed a system of exalted scholarships given to the children of men who had died or risked their lives in defense of their country. The plan reflected glory not only on the recipients, but also on the state."

"It was a sort of part payment for the services of these men. It might be called a bonus, but it was applied in a cause more profitable, yielding much greater results to the state and the nation, than the distribution of money directly to the parents. The scholarships of these schools differed from those awarded in the universities of the state, in that our scholarships had been paid for in advance by heroes of war."

CARS COLLIDE; NONE INJURED

Failure of Traffic Light to Function Is Blamed for Accident Here.

None was injured in an auto collision at the intersection of Buford avenue and Chambersburg street Saturday morning but two cars were so badly damaged that they had to be towed from the scene of the accident.

Officer George B. Aughinbaugh, who investigated, said that it occurred while the bulb that showed red to Chambersburg street traffic was not operating. The officer was driving toward the intersection with a new bulb when the accident occurred.

Herman Steerman, Philadelphia, was driving west on Chambersburg street and failed to receive the signal to stop because of the faulty bulb. As he turned to the left onto West street he collided with an auto being driven toward center square on Buford avenue by Francis Linn, West Middle street. The machine Linn was driving was overturned but the driver escaped injury.

Saturday's accident was the first of any consequence that has occurred at that intersection since the erection of the traffic lights, police say.

COURT ASKED TO RULE UPON DEATH POLICY

Declaratory Judgment Sought Against County Woman, Insurance Firm.

REPRESENTS SUM DUE LOCAL BANK

A petition for a declaratory judgment upon a contract was filed in the office of Prothonotary C. Arthur Braine this morning by Keph and Bigham, Esqs., representing the Citizens' Trust company of Gettysburg, plaintiff in the action. The action is said to be the first of its kind instituted in the county courts here in more than ten years.

The defendant is the Mutual life insurance company of New York with Mrs. Annie S. Bucher, widow of Harry C. Bucher, Franklin township, as an additional defendant. The petition filed today by the local attorneys sets forth that in 1923, the company issued a $3,000 life insurance policy to Harry Bucher, payable to his wife on the death of the insured.

Six years later, according to the petition, the insured and his wife assigned their right and interest in the policy to the trust company as collateral for a debt of $2,200, owed the bank by them. The trust company subsequently made payments of the premiums on the policy.

Seeks Part of Policy

Mr. Bucher died June 14, 1935. At that time Mr. Bucher owed the bank the principal sum of $2,200, $808 in interest and the premium payments which amounted to $184.74. At the same time there became due to the bank from the insurance company the sum of $3,000 with accumulated dividends that totaled $3,025.83, the petition avers.

Mrs. Bucher subsequently notified the insurance company that out of the sums payable under the policy, the amount of $825.83 which represents the face value of the policy less the principal of the debt, $2,200, was due her. Because of this request, the company has refused to pay the trust company the amount due it under the policy but has forwarded a check to the bank payable to both the trust company and Mrs. Bucher. Mrs. Bucher has refused to endorse the check.

15 Days to Answer

The court is asked to make a declaratory judgment to the effect that the trust company is entitled to receive the entire sum payable by the company under the policy together with accumulated dividends and interest to the extent of the $2,200 debt, the unpaid interest due the bank on the debt and the money paid by the trust company on the insurance premiums. The total sum sought for the bank is $3,025.83. The court is also asked to declare that the "beneficiary" of the policy, Mrs. Bucher, is not entitled to receive any of the sum payable under the policy.

The defendants are required to file an answer to the petition within 15 days of service of a copy of the petition upon them.

Recruiter Seeks Enlistments Here

Sergeant Jackson L. Kapham, in charge of army recruiting in this district will be at the Gettysburg postoffice from 8:30 a. m. until 5 p. m. PITTSBURGH'S POLICE UNDER SHERIFF RULE

Court Takes Action to Permit Magistrates To Perform Their Duties.

Pittsburgh, June 15 (AP)—Sheriff Frank I. Gollmar controlled Pittsburgh police today after Mayor William N. McNair's arrest on a charge of "misbehavior" at the start of a grand jury investigation of the police bureau.

Judge Ralph H. Smith accused the mayor of "deliberate violation of law and promoting a breakdown and demoralization" in the bureau.

He acted after McNair, center of a chaotic situation caused by contradictory orders to police, halted magistrates' hearings.

Investigators said the mayor prevented the magistrates from sending prisoners to jail, contending their courts could not operate because records were seized for the grand jury inquiry.

The usually wise-cracking McNair said little at his hearing before Judge Smith Saturday, when he was released in $5,000 bail to await grand jury action on the charge.

"Not guilty," he told the judge.

Smith named Sheriff Gollmar emergency guardian on public safety. Gollmar immediately issued orders to deputies to take posts at the ten police courts and arrest any magistrate who did not perform his duties.

McNair was arrested after four days of turmoil in the police bureau as a climax to a series of incidents that have enlivened City Hall since a Democratic landslide in 1933 put him in office.

Mayor's Orders Ignored

The mayor ordered Safety Director Thomas A. Dunn to go on a fifteen-day furlough. Dunn refused, although McNair said he himself would act as director.

McNair ordered a shake-up involving more than one hundred officers. The order was ignored.

Judge Smith called for the grand jury investigation in an attempt to end the confusion, in which officers were given contradictory orders by two public safety directors, two traffic inspectors and two detective inspectors.

In the event McNair is tried on the misdemeanor charge and convicted, disqualifying him from holding his office, the president of the city council would temporarily serve as mayor.

Legal sources said no specific penalty is provided by law for the charge, that the only restriction on the sentencing judge is that the sentence shall not be "cruel or unusual."

State law provides that a municipal election be held if the mayor's office becomes vacant a year before expiration of the term. Otherwise the council would name a successor. McNair's term expires in 1938.

Six weeks ago McNair was arrested on another charge, accused of ignoring a court order to return a fine imposed in a "numbers" racket case. The charge was withdrawn after he spent several hours in jail.

supervision of the postmaster or his assistant. Legion officials will assist in the identification of veterans who present bonds.

After the bonds have been presented for certification, the veterans will receive an "interim receipt," which they will hold while the bonds are returned to Philadelphia and checks mailed to them covering the value of their bonds.

Veterans who do not cash their bonds but hold them will receive interest at the rate of three per cent per annum, payable beginning June 15, 1937.

At the Biglerville post office today it was stated that arrangements have been made for a meeting of veterans at the American Legion home Tuesday evening at 5 o'clock when postal clerks will be on hand to certify the bonds.

George M. Neely, the postmaster at Fairfield, said that he will meet veterans at his store where certification can be made if the veterans are positively identified.

Veterans who "cash in" on their bonds may expect to receive checks in exchange for their bonds by the end of the week, the postal department has indicated.

A wide variety of uses will be found by the veterans for their bonus money. Many will hold their bonds as an investment and collect the annual interest, others will cash a part or all of the bonds and pay debts or make purchases that have been impossible previously on account of the lack of funds.

3 Million Dozen Of Eggs Produced In County In '34

A total of 3,238,426 dozens of eggs produced on 3,209 farms in Adams county during 1934 according to a report released today by the federal bureau of census, department of commerce, at Washington, D. C.

On January 1, 1935, there were 466,670 chickens over three months of age at 3,279 county farms. In 1934 there were 2,949 farms that raised 519,743 chickens. Four hundred and ninety-five county farms reported raising 3,421 turkeys during the same period.

FRENCH SOVIET IS AIM OF REDS

Communist Leader Says Workers Are Ready to Take Over Factories.

Paris, June 15 (AP).—Maurice Thorez, leader of the Communist party, told his celebrating followers Sunday France's factories soon become the property of the workers.

He spoke as Leftist workers celebrated labor gains won in general strikes which they call a bloodless revolution.

Thorez, in an address at Lille, said strikers had not damaged the factories they occupied "because they knew they would soon become their property."

Proved Capability, He Says

Recalling Premier Leon Blum's admission to the Chamber of Deputies that the strikers' occupation was illegal, Thorez said, "it simply is a new legality which is forming," and that the strikes proved the working class is "capable of taking its own destiny in its own hands."

Marcel Cachin, who was the first Communist to enter the Senate, said the party would continue to fight to establish a Soviet in France despite its membership in the Leftist People's Front, which supports Premier Blum.

Communists massed in the Paris sports stadium in "victory demonstrations" following legislation providing higher pay and shorter hours to end the widespread strikes.

Thousands in Parade

The capital region generally observed the "great day of workers' solidarity."

More than 50,000 followers of the People's Front marched at Nancy, Le Havre, Cherbourg Rouen and elsewhere in the provinces in orderly demonstrations.

Red flags raised on the 215-foot towers of the Nancy Cathedral gave police a real mystery. Authorities were unable to lower the banners immediately or to discover how they were put there.

Thurmont Man Held On Extortion Charge

Washington, June 15 (AP)—Deputy Sheriff E. M. Freeze, of Frederick county, said Sunday night he had arrested Jesse Miller, Thurmont, for questioning in a Washington extortion case.

Miller, unemployed, was arrested on a charge of trespassing, Freeze said, when he was found asleep in a Thurmont cemetery. The request for his arrest was made, Freeze added, by a federal officer who said the prisoner was wanted for questioning about a letter demanding $5,000 from a Washington resident.

Freeze said he had released his prisoner to the federal man's custody and they had left, presumably for Washington.

At the capital, officials of the Secret Service, the Postoffice Department and Department of Justice denied knowledge of the case.

It will start life with a population of 20,000, drawn chiefly from San Juan, and will be completed with churches, schools and theaters before occupancy of its approximate 4,000 model concrete, storm-proof houses. Manuel Egoque, chief of the slum-clearance program, estimated "Ciudad Eleanor Roosevelt" would cost $5,000,000.

MURDER TONIGHT

BY LAURENCE W. MEYNELL

SYNOPSIS: Squire Burdett, miser of Hope Enderon in Sussex, is hurrying home from the village because it suddenly has occurred to him that someone may break in and steal his money while he is away. He is a familiar and disliked figure to many in the village—not the least of these being Peter Steele, rector of St. Leonard's. On his way he passes his half-nephew, Dale Shipley, bargaining for a mare in the courtyard of one of Hope Enderon's two inns. The Squire hates Dale, who is a spend-er.

Chapter Three THE SERGEANT

The gypsy's eyes flickered but he said nothing, so Dale drained his glass and set it ostentatiously down on the sill of a window. "Nice day," he said, "if the rain holds off. Well, I'll be getting along."

The gypsy was with him in two strides, and a swarthy hand was laid on his arm. "Come, Mr. Dale, you want that mare—at sixty pounds."

"Sixty?" Dale swung round. "To a gentleman like you, as I know can ride her properly."

"Damn you," Dale cried explosively, "but I do want her and that's a fact. I haven't had a decent horse of my own for two years. I'll give you sixty for her Dawley, but it'll have to be thirty down and the rest in a month's time."

Banner Dawley considered, his quick eyes searching his man. Had he been dealing with another gypsy he would not have hesitated but with a gentleman it was different. You couldn't trust gentlemen far. Still, risk nothing, win nothing. "Forty down," he amended.

"All right then, forty it is, and the mare's mine now. Here Charley (he put his head through the window of the Horseshoes tap) bring out a couple of pints, we've struck a bargain."

Banner Dawley drove his cart away from the Horseshoes well satisfied. Money, a strange thing (he reflected) where these gentlemen who were always hard up and who never did any work got it all from. They did say that the old gentleman who lived by himself in the big yellow house outside the village had thousands of pounds saved by—well, he wasn't doing too badly himself for a Higgle of Far Hope Common.

The sight of a blue uniform in the roadway chased these agreeable reflections from his mind. Instantly he became secretive, mask-like, aware—the immediate and natural reaction of the born lawbreaker to the presence of the professional law supporter.

He touched his cap subversively as he went by. "Good morning, Mr. White," he said.

Sergeant James White nodded. As a matter of routine he ran an expertly appraising eye over Dawley's outfit. You never knew; Homer occasionally nodded and even a fly card like Banner Dawley might make a mistake sometime, a pheasant's head might be sticking out from under the firewood, or the tip of a hare's leg show white among the sacking. There was nothing doing today, however, so James White let the gypsy and his car go by unchallenged. The sergeant had always a full day's work; and before that day was out he was to have even more than his fill.

When John Fenton ushered the Rector out of his shop he looked across the square at the green-coated, shambling figure on the other side.

"There's old Mr. Burdett," he said half aloud, and his wife, who was by his side, clutched his arm and said, "John, couldn't you go and speak to him about it, now?"

Fenton shrugged his shoulders in despair. "What's the good?" he said, "He'll do it if he's a mind to; and if it means money, he will have a mind to; and that's all there is to it."

"Can't we stop him somehow?"

"How?"

Devastating monosyllable, which Mary Fenton did not attempt to answer; instead she said, "Doesn't it seem wicked that people should have power like that to hurt others?"

Again Fenton shrugged his shoulders. "I don't know that it's wicked exactly," he said, "it's the way of the world. But if he does it, it means the end of Fenton's Stores, that's certain." For a minute or two he was silent, then he said in a curiously quiet voice, "Pop round to the back, Mary, and see if that boy has got his bicycle ready yet, time we made a start with the orders."

Mary Fenton obediently ran about her business and left her husband staring after the disappearing figure in the disreputable coat.

Arthur Burdett reached home at last puffing and apprehensive. He stumped his way up the unweeded drive and going round to the back of the house he began immediately to shout "Lumsdale, Lumsdale, where are you, Lumsdale?"

In response to all this high-pitched and querulous clamor a serving man came unhurriedly out of the kitchen. His closely cropped head and his hang-dog expression made him an odd object to look at. Mose people would have mistrusted him on sight, and why he should be the one person in the world in whom Arthur Burdett had any sort of faith is a mystery.

"Everything all right Lumsdale?" he queried as soon as he saw him. The man smiled, almost sneered, a little at the old fool's windy apprehensions.

"None's been, nothing's happened," he snapped.

"Good," Arthur Burdett made his way into the house and just before he left the kitchen region shouted over his shoulder, "I shan't want any lunch today Lumsdale."

"All right."

Burdett hurried to his living room in the front of the house and ran his eye rapidly round its familiar scene. Nothing was disturbed; he had managed to stave off the hostile world a little longer, it had not robbed him yet. With a grateful grunt he sank into the only chair and drawing his coat close about him (no fire was lit in the grate) prepared to examine his treasures.

First he drew towards him a calendar (the gift of some optimistic tradesman, else it would not have been there) and pulled off the top leaf disclosing that appropriate to the day:

Monday, Jan. 18th
"There are no true riches save goodness."

Arthur Burdett chuckled loud and long over such idiocy. His laughter doubtless would have been less hearty could he have foreseen that Monday the 18th of January was to be the last day of his life.

STIFF STORM NEARS FLORIDA

Tropical Disturbances Forecast; Not Expected to Reach Hurricane Force.

Jacksonville, Fla., June 15 (AP).—A moderate tropical disturbance swept northeastward across the Gulf of Mexico Sunday, attended by heavy rains and moderate winds.

Grady Norton, meteorologist in the weather bureau here, said the storm was increasing in intensity but there was no possibility of its attaining hurricane force.

He said the center of the disturbance probably would reach the Florida west coast in the vicinity of Port Myers or Tampa, perhaps between those points. Heavy rain, an advance indication, fell in the lower west coast area Sunday.

Watch To Be Kept

Weather bureau officials kept an all-night watch on the storm.

This first tropical disturbance of the year appeared off the coast of Yucatan, Mexico, Friday. It traveled northwestward toward the Mexican coast, then slowly swerved around to the east.

At 3 p. m. Sunday the storm was centered about 225 miles southwest of Tampa, moving northeastward at a rate of fifteen miles an hour, Norton said.

The approaching disturbance also feet, reached the wreckage. A. W. Meadows, department of commerce inspector, said low flying and rough air were responsible.

brought an advance guard of rain in south and coastal Georgia and the edge of the Carolinas.

Coast Gets Rain

At Atlanta the weather bureau estimated an inch or more of rain had fallen in the coastal regions, but inland, at Red Boiling Springs church, sixty miles from Nashville, Tenn., farmers gathered to pray for rain as the state's drought damage to crops neared the $50,000,000 mark.

The crop-reporting service said good rains or showers had ended the drought in some areas and had brought partial or temporary relief in a large portion of the area east of the Mississippi and also in some northern portions of the great plains.

MAX BAER IN 6-ROUNDER

WITH SOUZA TONIGHT

Salt Lake City, June 15 (AP).—Max Baer, fat but years short of 40, will climb back into the hempen enclosure tonight to attempt a comeback.

The once heavyweight boxing champion of the world motored to Salt Lake City from the Pacific coast, caught up on his sleep and proceeded to "beat up" a couple of sparring partners, including his brother, Buddy.

Baer, weighing some 225 pounds, will tangle with Tony Souza, a San Francisco heavyweight, in a six-round headline bout at McCullough's arena, seating capacity 4,500.

Anell Hoffman, Baer's manager, said he has arranged several bouts throughout the west, building up the erstwhile playboy for a fling at bigger game.

Baer, old grin replaced by a look of determination, sailed through his

Canton Troops Are Withdrawing

Shanghai, China, June 15 (AP).—The Canton (south China) government telegraphed the National government at Nanking an appeal Sunday urging that the nation as a whole take a stronger attitude toward Japanese activities in China.

This message, sent by Chen Chintang, governor of Canton and military leader of Kwantung province, said, however, that forces of Cantonese were withdrawing from Hunan province "for the present."

Hunan, attached to the Nanking government, borders upon Kwangtung province of the Canton regime.

National government leaders interpreted the development as a strong indication Kwangtung province is unwilling to continue its threat against Hunan province, which Nanking is answering with ever-increasing military concentrations in Fukien, Kiangsi and Hunan provinces.

The National government believes Canton's latest action left Kwangsi province alone to prosecute any anti-Nanking campaign. War lords of Kwangsi are believed to realize they are incapable of waging war alone. Thus Nanking was optimistic that the southern threat is rapidly disintegrating, thereby removing the danger of civil war.

FEWER PECANS EXPECTED

Dallas, Tex. (AP).—Growers' surveys indicate a sharp reduction in the Texas and Oklahoma pecan crop may be expected this year, caused by frost and cold. From Okmulgee, Oklahoma, came the report that several of the state's largest groves there were not expected to bear this year.

Roy Bagley, San Saba, Texas, buyer, estimated only a 25 per cent crop for the San Angelo, Texas, pecan region.

ROARING WIDE OPEN!
Fred Jacoby, Jr., outboard motor-boat champion, says: "Camels make food taste better and help me get the good out of what I eat."

A CASHIER HAS TO BE fast, accurate, pleasant. Miss Travis Lander, shown at the ticket window, says: "I like to smoke at mealtime. Camels help my digestion."

The Presidential Room of the Mayflower Hotel
Washington, D. C.

Beautifully gowned women... diplomats and statesmen... gather here, while the Mayflower kitchens give forth a stream of rare and tempting dishes. The famous maitre d'hôtel of the Mayflower—greeted as "Fred"—says: "Of course, our cosmopolitan clientele prefer Camels. They are a great favorite with our guests."

A SUGGESTION
At mealtime, try Camels yourself and see why smokers say
"For Digestion's sake—smoke Camels"

WHEN THE ALARM RINGS, Fire-Chief Frank Gilliar forgets about food and rest till the last spark is out. Does he enjoy smoking? "You bet I do," he says—"Camels. Smoking Camels while I'm eating and after gives me a great feeling of cheer and contentment."

BEST-DRESSED GOLFER. Johnny Farrell was voted the best-dressed golfer at the National Open Championship matches for a number of years. He says: "A Camel puts me on the top of the world. Camels aid my digestion."

Science confirms the truth of the popular phrase "For Digestion's Sake...Smoke Camels"

Scientists have found that Camels promote well-being by stimulating the flow of the digestive fluids...alkaline digestive fluids...necessary for good digestion. Often fatigue, worry, excitement, nervousness—all interfere with this digestive flow. Camels restore and increase it, thus assisting digestion to proceed normally and healthfully.

With their finer, costlier tobaccos, Camels give mildness a new meaning. They do not get on your nerves or rasp your throat. Make Camels your smoke—for their cheery "lift"...for digestion's sake. Camels set you right.

Costlier
Tobaccos!

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCOS—Turkish and Domestic—than any other popular brand.

Married: On the 26th ult., by the Rev. Mr. Ruthrauff, Mr. Samuel Winrott, of Mount Pleasant township, Adams county, to Miss Sarah Ann, daughter of Mr. George Winebrenner, of Heidelberg township, York county.

On the 19th ult., by the Rev. D. Gottwald, Mr. Jacob Lady, of Franklin township, to Miss Susanna Slaybaugh, of Menallen.

On the 7th inst., by the same, Mr. Daniel Adler, to Miss Sally Deatrick—both of Tyrone township.

On the 3th inst., by the Rev. Mr. Ruthrauff, Mr. Henry Waldman, of MSherrystown, to Miss Elizabeth Johns, of this county.

The condition of Florida at the present moment is represented as most calamitous. That afflicted country is between the Creeks on the one hand and the Seminoles on the other. The troops of Alabama and Georgia have been all called to the north and west of the Creek country. The United States have not, we believe, a soldier between the Creeks and Florida, and it is said that there are not two hundred men, all told, between the Creek country and Tallahassee. We have been furnished a letter reporting these conditions.

Died: On Thursday last, Mr. George Eyster, of Straban township, in the 80th year of his age—an active and efficient Soldier of the Revolution.

On the 5th inst., Mrs. Maria Eva Rohrbach, wife of Mr. Christian Rohrbach, of Germany township, aged 56 years.

Died, very suddenly, at her residence in this Borough, on Wednesday morning last, in the 50th year of her age, Mrs. Margaret McConaughy, widow of the late John McConaughy, Esq.

On Saturday night, the 21st ult., Mr. John Scott (Miller). Also on Sunday night, the 22d, Mr. Sebastian Haffer, formerly of Abbotstown.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The Ladies of Gettysburg are now engaged in preparing Shirts and Handkerchiefs for the company, as they did for the former. The York Springs Ladies, we learn, to their patriotic credit, will fit out all who come from their quarter. They, like our own, are never backward in a good cause.

The flags were lowered to half-mast on Wednesday last, in token of sorrow for the death of Senator Douglas.—The same mark of respect has been paid the deceased all over the country.

Married: In Philadelphia, on the 6th inst., by Friend's ceremony, in the presence of Alexander Henry, Major Samuel W. Milfin, of Columbia, Pa., to Hannah, daughter of William Wright, of Plainfield, Adams county.

On the 24 inst., at the residence of the bride's father, by Rev. J. K. Miller, Mr. George Heller, to Miss Lydia Ann Warren—both of Menallen township.

On Thursday evening, the 30th ult., by the Rev. J. G. McKeehan, Mr. Thomas J. Himes, of Shippensburg, Cumberland county, to Miss Hele A. daughter of Mr. Wm. Himes, of New Oxford, Adams county, Pa.

On the evening of the 6th ult., at the M. E. Parsonage, by Rev. George Stevenson, Mr. Charles Gilbert, of this place, to Miss Mary A. Snyder, of Mountjoy township.

On Friday last, by Rev. Jacob Ziegler, Mr. Craig F. Wisotzky, of this place, to Miss Mary Jane Cassatt, of Cumberland township.

On the 26th ult., in Littlestown, by Rev. S. Henry, Mr. John H. Lambert, of Carroll Co., Md., to Miss Angelina E. Wolf, of Taneytown, Md.

On the 28th ult., at the Evangelical Lutheran Parsonage, Littlestown, by the same, Mr. John Sheely to Miss Josephine Staley—both of this county.

The Adams Infantry: This Company, raised in this county, under the Fifteen Regiment Bill, took their departure in the cars on Saturday morning last for West Chester. There they will go into camp, to be equipped and drilled three months, so as to be ready for service at the call of the Government. That they will give a good account of themselves, there need be no doubt.

The Company was escorted to the cars by the Zouaves, under Captain Sumwalt, who fired a salute at parting. The scene was an impressive one.—Comp.

The gallant York Springs District furnished 22 of this Company, all hale, hearty young men, who will do honor to our Country's Flag.

Died: On Friday last, in this place, Mr. E. Jesse Culp, aged about 54 years.

On Sunday evening, in Mountjoy township, Mr. Henry Hemler, aged about 56 years.

On the 1st inst., Mr. Peter Rice, of Bendersville, aged 67 years.

OTHER MEN WEAR SILK HATS

Last evening sitting in the den
She put the question to me flat:
"Why can't you be like other men
And get yourself a high silk hat?"

"I've many reasons good," I said
And looked across my book and grinned.
"It's hard to keep upon the head
A silk hat in a heavy wind."

"The topper is the proper hat
To wear at weddings," she replied.
"Oh, I have always managed that!
I leave the old brown felt outside."

"But other women's husbands try
To look like something now and then.
Surely, my dear, you won't deny,
Silk hats look well on other men."

For thirty years, be it confessed,
We argued out this question. Still
She's never seen me smartly dressed
And now I'm sure she never will.

FAIRFIELD

Fairfield—Mr. and Mrs. H. Sterling Rowe, Upper Darby, spent last week-end with Mrs. Rowe's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Swope, and family.

Mrs. Frank Conrad and son, Frank Jr., returned to their home, Sunday, after spending two weeks with Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Harbaugh.

Mrs. Esther McGlaughlin is spending some time with friends in York and with her sister, Miss Hope Brenizer, Camden, New Jersey.

Ernest Donaldson, of Gettysburg, spent several days last week with Daniel Mickley.

HAS $24,028 IN BANK:

WON'T PAY $100 FINE

Chicago, June 15 (AP)—Isaac Hirsch, 6-year-old "newsboy" who made $11,000 by not selling his papers, spent the week-end in jail rather than take $100 from his hoardings to pay a fine.

Isaac said he came to Chicago from Nashville, Tennessee, last week. He took a room where board and lodging cost 15 cents a day, and resumed what police said was his life work: Tramping the streets clutching a single newspaper. Passersby, the police said, usually gave "like" a nickel or more and told him to keep the paper.

The policeman who picked him up on Friday found $4.99 in his pockets and a handbook showing a $13,028 balance in a Nashville bank. "Like" told the judge he had inherited the $13,028, but added: "I have $11,000 in another bank. I earned it selling papers."

BUTTON IN NOSE

A shoe button that had been lodged in the nose of Mrs. Anna Martin, Hanover, for 25 years, was removed by a York physician on Saturday. Mrs. Martin had been suffering from a nose affliction for a number of years and medical treatment failed to relieve her. On Saturday the button was discovered and removed. Mrs. Martin says she never knew the incident when the button became lodged in her nose.

PHILLY READY FOR DEMOCRATS

Old Town Spruces Up for 1st Democratic Convention in Its History.

Philadelphia, June 15 (AP)—Philadelphia is putting the finishing touches to its gala party dress for the coming of the Democrats, June 23.

Not since the Sesquicentennial Exposition in 1926 has the old town fussed so much or manifested the air of expectancy.

The city hall, Philadelphia's "hub," got a scrubbing, a new road was built and traffic routes rearranged; flags were ordered out of camp; and all the lights of the spectrum were readied for the first democratic convention in Philadelphia's history.

If a half-million visitors drop into town that week (estimate by Oliver A. Quayle, executive assistant to the secretary of the National Committee) they will find entertainment ranging from a classic symphony to a rodeo.

Philadelphia's "big tent," the structurally beautiful municipal auditorium of marble, limestone, and steel, scene of the main attraction, required but little attention; a dash of makeup suited to the tempo of the occasion.

Taxpayers invested more than five million dollars in the auditorium five years ago. It is both classic and modern in design. Including its huge stage, the main arena will seat 15,000.

The hall skirts the campus of the University of Pennsylvania and is a ten-minute drive from the center of the city, less than that from the railroad stations. Nearby is Franklin Field where the Democrats formally will notify their candidate for president at a mammoth night meeting on Saturday, June 27.

One can ride to the back door of the hall in a railroad train, or drive an automobile into the auditorium or upon the stage. A change of air every eleven minutes is claimed for the ventilating system.

Restaurant for 1,000
There is not a pillar or post in the arena to interfere with vision. It is 145 feet by 270 feet and nearly 90 feet from floor to ceiling. Beneath is a floor area just as big, and elsewhere throughout the structure are nearly sixty rooms that will accommodate from a dozen to several hundred persons. One will be a temporary post office.

There will be restaurant facilities on the lower floor to accommodate 1,000 persons at a sitting. In addition there will be a cafeteria with accommodations for 1,500 at one of the adjoining museum buildings.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

IN STATE AND STYLE

I READ a stirring story in a recent New York magazine of a man who refused to go on "relief." Finally a job came and a reporter interviewed him. There were four in the family. The father was a worker in the building business. Most of the time the two children were the only source of income.

"Why did you not go on relief?" asked the reporter. "Well," replied the man, "I couldn't. I knew that later on something in here (pointing to his chest) would keep reminding me of it." Great sacrifices were made—but at no time, the father stated, did a single one of the family find fault or complain.

This is an example of the calibre of character that is finally going to restore confidence and happiness, and which will finally bring about work for all who desire work. And what self-respecting man does not desire work?

When William Allen White was 27 years of age he moved from Kansas City, after having borrowed $3,000 from a few friends with which to purchase The Emporia Gazette, at Emporia, Kansas. But when he arrived at the station of the small town he had just $1.25 left in his pocket. For a moment he stood there and thought. Then he called a hack and "spent 25 cents magnificently" and "rode to his boarding house in state and style" as reported some time ago by a writer in the Kansas City Star.

Never will mere money be the criterion for real success. Its inception and its full flowering result from a source that the Creator Himself planted within the man. From a location around the region of the fifth rib, I should say!

Old Dr. Johnson threw away the shoes that were left at his doorstep—too proud to accept them. And—in state and style—the great of his time finally came to sit at his feet and drink in the wisdom that flowed from his great mind, and to absorb the sympathetic understanding that gushed from his large heart.

When Daniel Webster, the American statesman, visited London, so impressive was his manner, as he walked about those ancient streets, that people stopped to look at him. They thought a god had come down among them!

The humblest and poorest—with heart-character—can live happily in state and style.

Mrs. Tugwell was riding with her daughter when a truck operated by Lewis W. Warns, of Baltimore, is alleged to have sidwiped an approaching car and then struck her machine.

Young Spreckles Pinned on Pole When Speedboat Goes on Rampage

Seattle, June 15 (AP)—Adolph Spreckles, wealthy sportsman, was injured seriously Sunday when he lost control of an outboard motorboat and the craft raced up the beach of Green Lake, hurtled through a crowd of spectators and crashed on top of a sound truck.

Spreckles was thrown high in the air against a telephone pole, where he hung suspended by an arm from one of the spike-like climbing steps until removed by spectators and rushed to a hospital. Spectators said his condition was serious but not necessarily dangerous.

The young sportsman, formerly of Seattle but now of Eugene, Oregon, had finished one heat of a race and was headed toward the landing float when the automatic throttle of his boat apparently jammed. The boat raced for the beach, leaped high as it struck the land and catapulted Spreckles into the air. It skidded along the ground, and finally bounded upon the truck.

None of the spectators was believed seriously hurt, with the possible exception of Ord Lockhart, of Seattle, who was watching the races from a wheel chair.

Spreckles is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Spreckles 2d and the grandson of the late John D. Spreckles, of the California sugar family. He was divorced recently from Sybil Esme and remarried to the former Miss Dorothy Belle Endicott, of Eugene, Oregon, where the couple now lives.

Long prominent in outboard motor racing circles, Spreckles recently announced he was "through with racing," but borrowed a boat from Finley Webb, Wenatchee (Washington) driver, to enter the

Avengers of Blood Purge Are Terrorizing Nazis

Paris, June 15 (AP)—The Berlin correspondent of the newspaper Paris-Soir said in a dispatch Sunday night that a secret organization of the followers of Captain Ernst Roehm, Brown Shirt leader slain in the Nazi "Blood Purge" of June, 1934, is waging a terrorist campaign of murder and threats against Nazi officials.

Even Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler, the report said, and other Nazi chiefs have received threatening letters from the Roehm Rancher (Revenge Roehm) organization.

It was stated further that the bodies of many murdered SS (Schutzstaffel) and SA (Storm Troops) members have been found in isolated spots, with the initials of the secret group, RR, scrawled over their chests in chalk.

Roehm had 20,000 Brown Shirt followers who swore to avenge their chieftain after the Blood Purge, the dispatch declared. The Storm Troop officer was slain at Hitler's order in 1934 clean-up.

Because the high Nazi chiefs are too well-guarded the Roehm Rancher has waged war on those factions of the SA and SS which took leading roles in the assassinations, the Paris-Soir reported.

A strict censorship has been imposed, making it impossible to estimate the number of men slain in the terrorist campaign, the newspaper added.

The Reich Government, badly worried, has taken special precautions against riots which may be led by the Revenge Roehm ring on the anniversary of the Blood Purge, the dispatch said.

Nazis Deny Hitler Threat

Berlin, June 15 (AP)—A spokesman for the Propaganda Ministry said Sunday night a Paris newspaper story that storm troopers had been killed by followers of the late Ernst Roehm and the Reichsfuehrer Hitler had been threatened was "nonsense."

The ministry denied the existence of any "Roehm organization," adding, "there never will be any." The spokesman said such stories doubtless "came from a book published in Switzerland by a German immigrant called, 'I can no longer keep still.'" age of his plane, which plunged into Tampa Bay near St. Petersburg today when on storm patrol.

No trace of radio man Walter O. Morris and aviation mechanic William D. Eubanks was seen, the divers reported. It was believed they may have been thrown clear of the craft when it struck the choppy bay.

Coast guard vessels found grappling equipment insufficient to raise the plane, which lay in about 14 feet of water, and awaited the arrival of a marine crane.

Earle Predicts Passage of Bills

McKeesport, Pa., June 15 (AP)—Governor Earle said today he was "confident" administration social security bills before the special session of the legislature will be "enacted into law." He predicted passage of the bills in an address before the state convention of P. O. E. "not because the G. O. P. majority in the senate wants to pass it but because that majority will not dare to defeat it."

American Hospital Attacked in China

Amoy, China, June 15—Pirates attacked the American hospital tonight but were beaten off after a machine gun battle in which five men were killed.

Those slain were three pirates and two policemen.

The hospital itself was not damaged and none of the attaches was injured.

The institution belongs to the Board of Foreign Missions of the Reformed church of America.

For several days the chief of a notorious band of outlaws in the district had been a patient in the hospital. He had been wounded in a battle with police. A guard had been thrown about the hospital.

The pirates used a ship and the attackers stormed across the sand of the shore to the hospital. The police, waiting in ambush, opened fire. The outlaws turned back and escaped in their ship.
